HEL FOR "PLANTING" OF DYNAMITE

Lawrence Undertaker Bound Over in $4000 After a Hearing in Police Court

TOLD POLICE LOCATION OF THE EXPLOSIVE

Claimed That Man in Boston Had Given Him Letter Designating Places Where Dynamite Was Kept—Occupants of Premises Plead Ignorance, Stating That It Was Left There by a Man—Habeas Corpus Proceedings for Etor.

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 2.—Charged with two counts of conspiracy in connection with the alleged "planting" of dynamite in the homes of strikers, John J. Etor, an undertaker, who is a member of the Lawrence school committee, was bound over to the grand jury today after a hearing in the police court. He furnished bail in the sum of $2,000 on each count.

Seven Others Released. Seven other persons, arrested when police detectives made a descent upon the foreign quarter, and found several packages of dynamite, were released on charges of keeping dynamite in their homes, having proved to the satisfaction of the court that they were not responsible for the presence of the explosive in their apartments. Brean Influential With Strikers.

In the case of Brean, 18 witnesses appeared for the state, including state and local police, while the defense offered no evidence. The committee of the Lawrence school committee, who are the strikers' allies, said that Mr. Brean told them he had dynamite in his home, and that he was influential among the strikers. Mr. Brean promised to do so.

Brean's Strange Story. Continuing Commissioner Lynch told the court that on Saturday, January 26, Brean came to the police station and said he had received a letter from a man in Boston, who had given him a list of places where dynamite was kept. Following the telephone directions, he said he went to the place in that city and met a man who told him to go to a certain place in the city, and that he was influential among the strikers. The letter, he claimed, was in the name of a man who was a postscript asking that it be destroyed, so he had destroyed it.

The Dynamite Located. Commissioner Lynch then related in what manner the dynamite was located in the homes of the strikers at the places named by Mr. Brean. In the testimony offered it was said that the dynamite was found in the homes of the strikers, and that it was in the name of a man who was a postscript asking that it be destroyed, so he had destroyed it.

Brean's Attorney Argues. A committee of five strikers will appear on Monday for the defense. In Boston tomorrow, 30 people are expected to appear for the defense. It is claimed that the only evidence against Brean was that he had secured information of where dynamite might be found, and had told the police that he had no evidence had been submitted to show that Brean had any relations with any of those people in whose homes dynamite had been found. There was no reason to believe he had conspired with any of those persons.

To Pretest to Governor. A committee of five strikers will appear on Monday for the defense. In Boston tomorrow, 30 people are expected to appear for the defense. It is claimed that the only evidence against Brean was that he had secured information of where dynamite might be found, and had told the police that he had no evidence had been submitted to show that Brean had any relations with any of those people in whose homes dynamite had been found.

Minimum Wage of $16 Necessary. The strikers' demands were visited today by Prof. David Evans of Andover Theological seminary, Cambridge, and Rev. F. M. Connel, New York. The committee of five strikers will appear on Monday for the defense. In Boston tomorrow, 30 people are expected to appear for the defense.

Opposed to Arbitration. Speaking individually, committee members declared that they are absolutely opposed to arbitration of the differences existing between themselves and the mill owners, because they would want to propose to be defeated before we begin to discuss our demands with the masters at the arbitration. The committee of five strikers will appear on Monday for the defense. In Boston tomorrow, 30 people are expected to appear for the defense.

The trouble between the two men is said to have been brought about through a letter written Dr. Ralston by Dr. Bangs. The committee of five strikers will appear on Monday for the defense. In Boston tomorrow, 30 people are expected to appear for the defense.

THREE MORE BODIES FOUND IN THE MAINE

Section of Ship Not Shattered by Explosion Is Floated.

Havana, Feb. 2.—The long protracted task of raising the sunken battleship Maine was crowned with success today when the after-section which was not injured by the explosion and which comprises approximately half the total length of the vessel, was set afloat.

Barely sufficient water was admitted to the hull to free the bulk from the mud in which it was deeply imbedded, but tonight it floats almost on an even keel though somewhat lower than its normal position above its normal line of flotation in consequence of the removal of the heavy weights on deck, especially the three 12-inch guns.

Into which a bulkhead has been fitted, proved perfectly water tight.

Major H. B. Ferguson, chief engineer in charge of new work, intended now to cease admitting water within the hull until the portions of the shattered forward section of the battleship are removed, which will be a matter of a few days. After this it will be a simple matter to admit sufficient water to raise the bulk to the harbor level. Then a section of the hull will be removed and the bulk will be floated out into the bay.

THROCKMORTON'S BODY SPEEDILY EMBALMED

Government Effort in Effort to Determine if He Was Poisoned.

Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 2.—Because Edward Throckmorton's body was taken from the hospital where he died to an undertaking establishment and embalmed before the court's order directing that an autopsy be held was served, efforts to determine whether the state's principal witness against J. B. Sneed, accused of having murdered Capt. A. G. Boyce, was poisoned, came to naught.

Throckmorton died last night from what is said to have been a mysterious illness. Physicians say his death resulted from alcoholic poisoning. A grand jury is trying to determine whether liquor he drank was drugged. Before he died, Throckmorton said he had been "drugged."

Members of the Throckmorton family deny that they gave instructions that the body be removed to the hospital authorities contend that they followed the usual custom of turning the body over to undertakers.
